Cuban Fishboat Captains Face Key West Judge

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—The first of 29 Cubans caught fishing in American waters go on trial today in a showdown between Cuba and Florida.

Fate of the defendants, captains of four Cuban government-owned fishing trawlers seized by the Coast Guard Feb. 2 off Florida's Dry Tortugas Islands, was in the hands of 72-year-old Judge Thomas Caro of Criminal Court.

The four and their 25 crew-men waived jury trial on charges of unlicensed fishing in Florida waters. The Cubans, whose case has had repercussions reaching to the U. S. naval base at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, appeared in good spirits as they began their third week in jail here.

Strains of Cuban revolutionary songs emanating from their second story "bullpen" are heard occasionally in busy Whitehead Street below.

Their meals, including some Cuban dishes such as arroz con pollo (rice with chicken) and always Cuban style coffee and bread, might be the envy of many in their food-scarce homeland.

One of the best known chefs in this Spanish-flavored city, Antonio (Big Boy) Placencia, is the jail cook.

The Cubans appeared neat and clean in court Tuesday, mostly in the gray fishing fleet uniforms they wore when captured.

Missing Hunter Found Shot Dead

MARINE CITY (AP)—Clifford De Bolt, 50, of Harper Woods, missing since Monday on a rabbit hunting trip, was found dead of a shotgun wound Tuesday in a wooded area about 12 miles west of here.

State Police said De Bolt apparently had tripped and was struck in the head when his 12-gauge shotgun discharged.

De Bolt, reported missing by his relatives, was found by state police, aided by tracking dogs.

Opinions Differ In Lansing On Court Decision

LANSING (AP)—Chief Michigan Supreme Court Justice Thomas Kavanagh and Gov. George W. Romney stood poles apart Tuesday on whether the U. S. Supreme Court's "equal representation" decision will be felt in Michigan.

Kavanagh said it will have an immediate impact "on all apportionment—congressional or legislative. There's no room for distinction between these."

The Republican governor said he did not expect the U. S. court's ruling Monday to threaten Michigan's 1963 congressional districting. He said a Democratic "one man, one vote" legislative districting plan "clearly violates the new State Constitution."

Romney also said there is "no reason for the State Supreme Court to deal with the question" of whether the State Constitution's districting formula violates the U. S. Constitution.

In answer to this, Kavanagh later told a news conference: "It is the job of this court to construe the Constitution, not the governor's."

The 1963 Constitution calls for population to be given 80 per cent, in reapportioning the legislature. A lawsuit testing this is pending in U. S. District Court at Port Huron.

He made clear that when the state court speaks on apportionment it will be in a decision "March 2 or any time after March 2." That is the date set for oral arguments on the constitutionally required redistricting.

Kavanagh was asked whether application of the "one man, one vote" principle in all apportionment cases is inevitable by the U. S. Supreme Court.

"I have said exactly this," Kavanagh said.

Mother Of Four Freed In Killing

BENTON HARBOR (AP)—A Berrien County Circuit Court jury of ten women and two men found Mrs. Odell Lucy Ann Bonds innocent of the slaying of Cleveland Moore, 34, Tuesday.

Attorneys for Mrs. Bonds, 32, pleaded self-defense and contended that she shot Moore with a pistol after he beat and choked her in her Benton Harbor apartment Jan. 1.

Mrs. Bonds, mother of four children, is separated from her husband.

President Backs Strong Terms Of Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—A compromise attitude on the House-passed civil rights bill seems likely to provide an ultimate test of President Johnson's ability to get controversial legislation out of Congress.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, assistant Democratic leader who will serve as Senate floor manager for the measure, said the President is completely committed to the strong terms of the House bill.

Humphrey added there would be "no wheels or deals" to gain its passage even if it takes weary weeks to break through a Southern filibuster. The measure may be brought up next week.

Humphrey's optimism that the House bill can be passed without substantial changes was not shared by Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois.

"There are going to be some compromises," Dirksen said in an interview. "I am going to give the administration an opportunity to compromise, and we'll see what happens."

Dirksen said he will offer a proposal calling for voluntary desegregation of hotels, motels, restaurants and other places of public accommodation. The House - approved bill would make such desegregation mandatory in a selected field.

If he can't get the Senate to accept his voluntary plan, Dirksen said he will consider falling back on an alternative proposal for compulsory integration of businesses offering food and lodging to interstate travelers.

Although Southern opponents of the House bill plan to talk at length in an effort to prevent any Senate progress toward its passage, they probably would be tempted to suspend their vocal marathon long enough to permit a vote on any proposal to water down its terms.

Harris negotiated to purchase the island in December, 1962 from its Canadian owner. His plan is the latest of a series of proposals to develop approximately 300 acres of swampland, bottomland and island.

Aid For Nations In Cuban Trade Halted By U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has halted small military aid programs for Britain, France and Yugoslavia in retaliation for their continuing to trade with Cuba.

Carrying out a congressional ban on aid to nations that trade with the Cubans, the State Department Tuesday also announced that Spain and Morocco would get no new U.S. aid until they provide "further clarification" of their trade policies with the Cubans.

Sources indicated that the amounts of aid involved in the cutoff was about $25,000-$30,000 for France and less for Britain and Yugoslavia. The exact figures are secret.

Joint Subpoena Powers Sought To Fight Crime

LANSING (AP)—A plan for giving joint powers of subpoena to the governor and the attorney general was filed in bill form in the legislature Tuesday.

The proposal, to be introduced with bi-partisan support, was filed on behalf of Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley, who terms the proposal "essential" to combating organized crime.

Provision of joint subpoena powers for the governor and attorney general is a new approach to legislation which has been sought by attorneys general for many years.

Lawmakers have traditionally rejected demands for subpoena powers for the state's chief law enforcement officer, apparently fearing it might be applicable to them.

Kelley's bill, however, would specifically exclude members of the legislature and other state officers.

Sponsors of the proposal were Sens. Raymond Dziedzic, D-Detroit, the Senate Democratic leader, and William Ford, D-Detroit, John Fitzgerald, R-Grand Lodge, and Farrell Roberts, R-Pontiac.

All are members of the Senate Judiciary Committee, and Roberts is chairman.

"This bi-partisan support carries on the spirit of a unified fight against organized crime," Kelley said.

"I strongly urge that the legislature give this bill consideration. Its adoption can mean a significant step forward in the fight against crime."

"This bill is the first step in helping to equalize the state's arsenal of weapons with that of organized crime," declared the attorney general.

"However, it contains a series of checks and balances which would prevent the power of subpoena from being abused."

Peach Island Resort Opposed

DETROIT (AP)—Boating enthusiasts and conservation club members joined forces Tuesday in a move to block a Detroit realtor's plan to fill 34.4 acres of bottomland at Peach Island to create a $30 million recreation development.

The Inter-Lake Yachting Association, the Detroit River Yachting Association and the Michigan United Conservation Clubs called for a public hearing on the proposal by Detroit real estate man E. J. Harris.

Harris negotiated to purchase the island in December, 1962 from its Canadian owner. His plan is the latest of a series of proposals to develop approximately 300 acres of swampland, bottomland and island.

The island, at the head of the Detroit River, lies in Canada with the exception of 34.4 acres—all under water—in Michigan.

Harris has sought passage in the State Legislature of a bill giving up the "public trust" in the navigable waters covering the Michigan land. The House has approved the measure, which is pending in the Senate.

William J. A. Nagel, a spokesman for the ILYA, an organization of 80 boating groups and 20,000 members, said the fill would "make the already hazardous bottleneck at the head of the Detroit River even more dangerous."

Nagel also said the fill would "force pleasure boat operators into the busy freighter channel or to the already crowded American side of the channel whenever they enter or leave Lake St. Clair."

Tanker Polaris Freed From Bar Off Two Rivers

TWO RIVERS, Wis. (AP)—The tanker Polaris, stranded on a sandbar in Lake Michigan since Monday, was freed Tuesday by the U.S. Coast Guard cutters Raritan and Mesquite and two fishing tugs.

The Polaris, en route from East Chicago, Ind., to Two Rivers with a cargo of fuel oil, proceeded under her own power toward Manitowoc for a checkup and disposition of her cargo.

Heavy swells hindered earlier attempts to free the vessel, aground off Two Rivers.

Homes Topple; 20,000 Await Rescue Ships

ANGRA DO HEROISMO, Azores (AP)—A mercy fleet from five nations brought more than 1,000 dazed and shocked refugees to Angra today from the earthquake devastation of Sao Jorge Island.

U.S., Norwegian, British, Italian and Yugoslav ships shuttled back and forth over the 20-mile stretch of water between this island of Terceira and Sao Jorge.

Refugees told of villages shaken to ruins, and said the air was thick with sulphur, an indication that a new volcano is building up on the ocean floor.

The evacuation operation was halted in the afternoon, however, "because authorities believe the situation has become stable," said Cmdr. Alvaro Cardoso, captain of the port of Angra.

Impossible To Sleep "Tremors are becoming weaker and less frequent," he added.

The refugees said the earth on the Azores island had been rocking for four days, and one of them said the recurring quakes made it impossible to sleep.

Twenty tremors were registered by Azores authorities on Sao Jorge during Tuesday night.

The quakes have been most intense on western Sao Jorge. About 20,000 islanders call Sao Jorge home. It is an elongated island, 34 miles long and about 1 1/2 miles wide.

Tremors also were felt Tuesday night on Terceira and elsewhere in the mountainous Azores, a Portuguese possession in the Atlantic 1,000 miles west of Lisbon. The quake waves have wrecked or damaged hundreds of homes on Sao Jorge, but no casualties have been reported.

Thousands of Sao Jorge inhabitants fled to a port at the east end of the island to await removal. They feared the quakes, now in their sixth day, would set off volcanic eruptions that would destroy their island.

Telephone and telegraph communications with Sao Jorge were shaky and reports from the stricken island varied. Some said virtually the entire population of 20,000 had assembled for evacuation; other reports put the number at about 7,000.

Gov. Teotonio Machado Pires, whose district includes Terceira and Sao Jorge, said the quakes on Sao Jorge were "getting worse each minute."

The Portuguese news agency ANI said the tremors on Sao Jorge were the result of a new volcano building up on the ocean floor.

The Arizpa, another American ship, was among six vessels en route to the 35-mile-long island in response to an SOS broadcast by the U.S. Air Force base at Lajes Tuesday. Other rescue ships were of British, Japanese and Norwegian registry.

Two Portuguese navy patrol boats were dispatched to join the hastily assembled rescue fleet, but a navy spokesman said 27-foot waves in the area may delay them considerably.

Sao Jorge's telephone and telegraph communications with Lisbon and other Azores islands were restricted to official calls. Authorities said one man stayed in a badly damaged postal building to transmit over the shaky circuit.

Young Daughter Of Johnsons Is Festival Queen

WINCHESTER, Va. (AP)—Lucy Baines Johnson, the 16-year-old daughter of President and Mrs. Johnson, has been named queen of the Shenandoah Apple Blossom Festival.

Miss Johnson is the first daughter of a president and the first Texan to be named queen of the 37-year old festival. She will reign from April 30 to May 2.

New Bill Calls For $300,000 In Scholarships

LANSING (AP)—A plan for a $300,000 state scholarship fund to send 500 Michigan high school graduates to college each year is being readied for introduction in the legislature.

Patterned after a similar plan in effect in Illinois since 1957, the program would allocate tuition money for students qualifying in competitive exams to attend public or private colleges in Michigan.

Proven need of financial assistance would be the chief factor in determining eligibility for the scholarships. They would be administered by the Higher Education Assistance Authority, which handles student loans.

The authority would pick the scholarship recipients through evaluation of competitive exams by eligible candidates.

Rep. Gilbert Bursley, R-Ann Arbor, chief sponsor of the bill, said the scholarships would be available to persons seeking admittance to two-year community colleges, four-year colleges, or in transferring from a two-year school to four-year school.

Bursley explained that the inclusion of private schools in the proposal is designed to induce these schools to "absorb a greater share of the basic student burden."

Most predictions show college enrollment in Michigan will increase by at least 10,000 students a year for the next several years.

Bursley said his scholarship fund plan may provide "part of

Boy Scouts Hear Loud Talk In Romney's Office

LANSING (AP)—Nine boy scouts got a taste of bi-partisan government at its liveliest Tuesday when they sat at a conference table with the state's top executives arguing loudly.

Lt. Gov. T. John Lesinski and Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley, Democrats, used a meeting of the state administrative board as a forum for criticizing Republican Gov. George W. Romney's policies on everything from apportionment to fiscal reform.

The scouts, observing "State Day in Government," sat wide-eyed in the governor's office as Kelley shouted:

"Under what prerogative of government can a governor, when he disagrees with an attorney general's opinion, go out and get his own opinion?"

This was a reference to last year's disagreement over 1963 state legislation, on aid to dependent children, which was reenacted by federal authorities.

"The governor has the right to accept or reject an attorney general's opinions," Romney shot back.

"The governor has a right to disagree but not to disregard those opinions," said Lesinski.

Crew Leaves British Ship Caught In Atlantic Gale

NEW YORK (AP)—A rescue ship today hauled aboard the first survivors from the storm-battered British merchantman, Ambassador, which had wallowed helplessly in mountainous North Atlantic seas for over 24 hours.

The Fruen, a Norwegian freighter, secured a line to the derelict shortly before 9 a.m. (EST), and removed three crewmen, the Coast Guard reported.

Four to six men still were reported aboard the hulk, which was listing at 50 degrees.

Life Rafts Sighted Other members of the 35-man crew abandoned ship early Tuesday afternoon as sea water crept higher in her engine room. Their fate was not known.

The Coast Guard Cutter Coos Bay, directing the search and rescue effort some 660 miles southeast of Halifax, N.S., said two life rafts, each with four or more persons aboard, had been sighted at sunset.

The Vulcania, an Italian passenger liner, was assigned to search for the rafts and any other survivors. Two aircraft flew search patterns, hampered by a low clouds.

Forty-knot winds and 25-foot seas complicated the rescue effort.

The 443-foot Ambassador, carrying grain from Philadelphia to England, sent out an SOS early Tuesday. Her distress signal said her engines were disabled.

Hatch Crushed In Unable to maneuver in the raging storm, the Ambassador was pounded by thundering waves which crushed in her forward hatch and flooded her engine spaces. About seven hours after the SOS, the abandoned ship order was given.

The Ambassador is owned by the Hall Bros. Steamship Co. of Britain.

Expansion Dept. Planner To Aid UPCAP Program

Professional planning services on a regional basis are to be made available to the Upper Peninsula by the Department of Economic Expansion in conjunction with the Upper Peninsula Committee on Area Problems. This is a new concept in planning assistance and a unique approach to regional help by a state development agency.

UPCAP Chairman Lynn Sandberg of L'Anse told executive officers of the regional economic development group meeting at L'Anse yesterday that B. M. Conboy, director of Department of Economic Expansion, has offered to share the cost of a full-time planner. In making the announcement, Conboy said state and regional developmental bodies must coordinate efforts to see that all available resources are used for economic progress.

The planner will join an UPCAP staff manager and an industrial development specialist sometime in early summer. The latter two, also newly-created positions, are being financed by an 18-month Area Redevelopment Administration grant to UPCAP.

Airline Growth Told To Rotary

The growth of North Central Airlines since its inception in 1948 and the hard economic facts of life that cause the abandonment of non-supported services was told by James Palm of North Central to the Rotary Club in Escanaba Tuesday noon.

North Central serves Escanaba and other cities in the central and western Upper Peninsula.

Walter Bright of the Rotary Club's program committee introduced Palm and John Groth of North Central. Robert Haack, Rotary vice president, conducted the meeting.

North Central was organized and began flights in February, 1948, between Chicago and Hibbing, Minn., Palm reported. A nine-passenger Electra plane was used, flights were only during daylight hours, and 11-000 passengers were carried the first year.

The change to DC-3's was made in 1950 and North Central now has 29 of them and 23 Convairs, which are larger and faster. This year it is expected that more than one and one-quarter million passengers will be transported.

The line extends into 90 cities in 10 states and two Canadian provinces, and its promptness has won it third place among U. S. airlines in the percentage of on-time service, Palm reported.

North Central's reputation for reliability has been recognized by the State Department with the employment of 20 technicians in an $800,000 project to develop the Bolivian air transport system, Palm said. The project is expected to be completed within two years.

"I think there is one thing we should get straight about subsidies," said Palm. "If North Central were not required to serve about 20 of the cities on its system, cities that do not contribute toward the system's traffic volume, then we would not need a subsidy. So it is the cities, not the airline that benefit from the subsidy."

Following "a fight with the government over subsidy" North Central last year dropped the Marquette-Houghton flight link, and the general cut back will bring the ending of the so-called "Lake Michigan bridge" flight between Escanaba and Traverse City on Feb. 29. There will be no flight on that route on March 1.

"The subsidy cost to the federal government was $49,000 for an average of two passengers a day," Palm explained. "We're sorry, but the flight just isn't being used."

There is little demand for inter-city service, he added. Maximum service by North Central is on a regional basis from terminal points. On short hauls such as from Iron Mountain to Escanaba, for example, people travel by auto.

DUTCH DAM

The Dutch have transformed the Zider Zee into a freshwater lake and reclaimed thousands of submerged acres. New areas are being diked and drained behind a 20-mile dam holding back the North Sea, a project which has been described as equivalent to damming Long Island Sound and filling in two-thirds of its 1,200 square miles.

Grand Opening Set At Holiday

Saturday will mark the grand opening of one of Escanaba's newest and most modern bowling alleys, The Holiday Bowl. Holiday is located on U. S. 2, 41, just west of Escanaba, and is owned by Marvin Pouliot.

The modern 16-lane bowling alley is in every way contemporary and is a handsome combination of stone and walnut woods complimented by eye-appealing color schemes.

Approaching the building entrance the visitor is impressed with the rough texture of wide-mortared flat stone and the generous use of glass. Walls of the entrance are done in the large flat stone, similar in appearance to lannon stone, laid on edge.

The interior of the Holiday Bowl is quietly elegant. A large stone planter graces the left side of the main lobby with suspended lighting. The floor is carpeted in a modern design of black on gold.

Some Areas Elevated

To the right of the lobby is the cocktail lounge. The color scheme of the lounge is taken from the carpeting, a mixture of gold, flame-orange and brown. The texture of the carpet is somewhat unusual because of its shaggy appearance.

The flame-orange tone is carried out in the coverings of the bar stools and cocktail chairs. The gold is repeated in two recessed panels on the west wall of the lounge. The panels are flopped patterns in gold on a metallic gold paper and are lighted indirectly.

Walls of the lounge are done in walnut paneling. The north side of the lounge is elevated two steps from the bar area. In this section are black leather-tufted lounges against the wall, a piano bar, dance floor and a contemporary fireplace.

Pinhole spots light the lounge area. Over the bar brass cylinder lights are hung with glass slotted sides in blue and green.

To the left of the entrance is the billiard room. The room, which is open on two sides, to the lobby and mezzanine is sunken and is carpeted in a black, white and brown muted plaid pattern. There are six billiard tables for public use.

Meets Public Demand

The mezzanine floor of the Holiday Bowl is also carpeted in the same black on gold pattern as is used in the lobby area. Here tables flank a modified balcony where onlookers may sit and watch the bowlers. In this area is also a control board for the bowling alleys.

The 16 lanes are several steps below the mezzanine floor and are on the south end of the building. Walls of the bowling alley are done in elongated horizontal shadings of gold. They range from a rich antique gold to a soft pale yellow.

The area between the mezzanine and the bowling lanes is open-planing, giving a panoramic view of the 16-lane alleys. Open areas leading from one level to another have black wrought-iron railings.

In every way the new Holiday Bowl meets the demands of the public and is one of the hand-somest new business facilities to appear on the local scene in some time.

The New York World's Fair of 1964 marks the 300th anniversary of the use of the city's name.

U.P. Music Assn. May Affiliate

Officers and representatives of four Michigan music educators' professional organizations meeting Saturday in Rapid River discussed affiliation of the Upper Peninsula School Music Association with the other state and national organizations with similar goals.

The luncheon meeting resulted from interests in the organizations and their unification expressed at the midwest conference of music educators held on the University of Michigan campus in Ann Arbor in January. At the conference, Mrs. Beverly Moraco, Escanaba Junior High School music instructor and president of the Upper Peninsula School Music Association, attended an executive board meeting of the Michigan School Music Association by invitation of Melvin Larimer, MSVA president from Traverse City.

At this meeting an official invitation was extended to the Upper Peninsula School Music Association to join with the MSVA, and in doing so, to also become a part of the Michigan Music Educators' Association, which is the state level of the nationwide Music Educators' National Conference.

At the Rapid River meeting, Robert Dierks, incoming president of the Michigan Music Educators' Association from Port Huron; Floyd Heydenburg of Mount Pleasant, Frank McKown of Lansing, Larimer, and Max Smith, Petoskey of the Michigan School Band and Orchestra Association, explained the facilities which would become available to Upper Peninsula music students as well as music educators.

Attending the meeting from the UPSMA were officers and members of the executive board, Secretary Clara J. Embs, Board Members Conrad Beck and John Chown, and Mrs. Moraco, Treasurer Robert Norden of Houghton, and Board Member James Keranen of Marquette.

Affiliation will be brought before the membership of the U.P. School Music Association Feb. 29, the day of the annual UPSMA Solo and Ensemble Festival at Northern Michigan University.

Illusion Of Help

When Escanaba interests attempted to aid commercial Great Lakes fishermen whose business was destroyed by the botulism scare of last October, they certainly became disillusioned about government aid.

Senator Philip A. Hart announced that Congress has passed legislation to make loans available to the stricken fishermen and the Small Business Administration announced that it was setting up a field office in Green Bay, Wis., to process loans.

Escanaba's inquiries about loans for fishermen in this area brought a reply from Senator Hart that he had sponsored legislation to this end and that the Small Business Administration would extend the aid.

The Small Business Administration answered in part: "You must realize that the botulism factors that led to the current disaster program weaken prospects for a fishery expansion loan. . . . We are not in a position to advise in a knowledgeable manner with respect to your request for application forms."

Our reaction is summed up in a paraphrase of the old expression — "Heaven help the fisherman" if he has to depend upon government aid under such an adled system.

Our reaction is summed up in a paraphrase of the the disaster relief he has provided and the dispenser says, in effect "You realize that because you've had a disaster you haven't got much chance for a loan!"

The situation points up a situation that the public should note. We hear of a need and then we hear of a government program to take care of it and then we assume that everything's ducky. Our fishermen know better!

Botulism and government prohibition on smoked fish sales — so poorly handled that all fish sales were disastrously affected — destroyed the lake fisheries business last fall. This is a source of livelihood for thousands of families and one of the nation's great food sources. The government — having been party to destroying the fish business as it did earlier in the cranberry scare — should be truly active in aid to the fishermen, not pretending, dissembling, yes-and-noing and ducking.

The Doctor Says:

Shingles Can Be Relieved

By Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.

The days when a shingle was something used to inflict corporal punishment on a wayward child are gone. But shingles is still a punishing disease.

It is caused by virus. In children and young adults the same virus causes chicken pox. As age advances, the number of cases of shingles and severity of the disease increases. Most persons who get this disease had chicken pox in childhood and were exposed to it again two or three weeks before the onset.

The virus usually settles in one of the nerve trunks of the spinal cord and as it travels along the nerve the overlying skin becomes red and very painful. Blisters form, and after about 10 days they dry up and the disease subsides. Shingles can be a very serious disease when one of the nerve trunks in the head is involved as this may lead to loss of taste, facial paralysis and even blindness.

The older the victim, the more likelihood there is that after the acute disease has subsided, a very painful neuritis or a very annoying itching will persist for several months or even years.

Many drugs and even surgical procedures have been used to relieve the pain, but with disappointing results. Freezing the affected skin by spraying it with ethyl chloride has been found to give relief for some victims. This process usually has to be repeated several times. Recent reports indicate that other treatments are also promising. Abilyguamide, given by mouth before nerve damage has been done, apparently shortens the course of the disease and prevents severe complications.

Gamma globulin injected into the muscle every second day in the acute stage of the disease causes prompt subsidence of the pain and probably prevents the painful neuritic aftermath that plagues so many of the older victims.

In another study, a weak solution of procaine was injected into the vein. This treatment had to be repeated several times in some victims, but gave excellent results.

Days of Crisis

Washington Comment

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Shortly before the Panama riots, high U. S. government officials told President Roberto Chiari of Panama that within five years the United States would make arrangements for building a new canal.

It was indicated to Chiari that the new canal probably would be built with atomic explosions, that it would be a sea level canal, that it likely would be built in Panama.

Chiari knew that this new canal would almost certainly mean the elimination of the Canal Zone. He knew, too, that on completion of a sea level canal without locks, virtually all the 6,000 American Canal Zone employees would return home.

He knew that most of the 600 men required to run a sea level canal would be Panamanians if the new canal were built in Panama.

He knew that the treaty for the new canal undoubtedly would give Latin Americans a great deal of the say in operation of the canal. He knew also there was strong feeling in high U. S. government circles that it might be possible to give over the entire operation of a sea level canal to a consortium of North and South American countries.

He knew that the only major reservations the United States would insist on would be:

1. Guarantees for the free passage of American and other friendly ships in peace and war.

2. Adequate provision for security of the canal against sabotage, not a difficult problem when dealing with a sea level canal. (By contrast, one properly placed bomb on the Gatun locks complex could put the present canal out of commission for two years.)

At the very time of the Panama riots, discussions were under way for changes in the treaty and in working conditions for Panamanian workers already had been agreed on, to go into effect July 1 this year. Under discussion were additional Panamanian rights in certain Canal Zone areas and Panamanian jurisdiction over a small but important sector.

U. S. officials, by a variety of unofficial channels, are letting the Panamanian government know how much further the United States is prepared to go immediately if Panama will be reasonable, even to the inclusion of a Panamanian on the governing board of the present canal and the training of a significant number of Panamanians for key managerial posts in the Canal Zone.

As a result of the Panama riots, the continued antagonistic attitude of the Chiari government and the unhappy international repercussions, the United States is now considering a shift in its future canal plans.

Though no final decision had

Kincheloe Base Not Listed In Telephone Book

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP)—Are you planning on making a telephone call to Kincheloe Air Force Base? If so you may run into trouble, because the sprawling base and community of about 10,000 persons apparently is top secret as far as the telephone companies are concerned.

Both Michigan Bell and General Telephone cover the area around the base, but neither has Kincheloe listed. A Bell spokesman says his firm doesn't list it because of failure to coordinate with General Telephone.

On the other hand, Camp Lucas, a Soo military establishment deactivated for two years, is listed in both directories.

More people get more news from newspapers than from all other sources combined.

Births

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Roberts of Big Rapids are the parents of a daughter, their first child, born Feb. 13 in Big Rapids. The baby, who has been named Tammy Lynn, is the first grandchild for the maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Thorbahn, Gladstone, and the paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Roberts, also of Gladstone. The mother is the former Karen Thorbahn.

Weather Delays Big Airlift To Western Germany

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—Bad weather on the U.S. East Coast today held up the airlift of 1,500 U.S. troops from their home base in Texas to West Germany and of 1,500 troops back to the United States.

The three-day Texas-to-Germany airlift, Operation Long Thrust X, is another demonstration of U.S. ability to rush troops by air to trouble spots around the globe.

Program Devoted To Child Growth At Central PTA

Films and a panel discussion on child growth and development drew a record attendance at the regular meeting of Central P.T.A. held at the cafeteria Monday evening.

The membership voted to have a conference type program in the schools administered by trained personnel on the subject of child growth and development to meet with boys and girls as separate groups, after seeing the films and hearing the discussion by the panel. Members of the panel led by Wallace Cameron as narrator, were Mrs. Melvin Strom, Mrs. Clifford D'Arcy, Dr. Mary Cretten, Pastor Reuben Carlson, Charles Byrns and Dr. Carl Olson.

Mrs. Bernard Olson, president, reported on the High School open house held Sunday and thanked the committee composed of Mesdames Ralph Ottensman, Roy Hawkinson, Glen Nelson, Reuben Sjoquist for their assistance in serving the refreshments.

Room count was won by Miss Jean Schmidt's second grade room and refreshments were served by mothers of her pupils.

Guardsmen Plan For Mock Battle

LANSING (AP)—Michigan National Guard officers will meet here Saturday to plan for a mock battle, Maj. Gen. Cecil L. Simmons, commander of the guard's 46th Infantry Division, announced Tuesday.

Twenty officers from Michigan and Iowa will attend Saturday's planning conference for the April 4-5 exercise.

Taking part in the April exercise will be 135 officers and men of the Michigan guard.

Hospital

Mrs. Joseph Gasperich, 17 Third St., was taken by ambulance to St. Mary's Hospital in Marquette where she is now a medical patient. Her room number is 106.

A FEMALE black bear with three 3-pound cubs beneath it hibernates in the open on the farm of Frank Miller a quarter mile east of U.S. 41 between Nadeau and Powers. (Photo by Mrs. David Draz, Escanaba Daily Press correspondent at Powers-Spalding)

Curious Humans Cause Bear To Abandon 3 Cubs

Wildlife has such an attraction for humans that it brings out the worst in some of them. When a female black bear was found hibernating partly in the open on the farm of Frank Miller a quarter mile east of U. S. 41 between Nadeau and Powers in Menominee County, Conservation Department officers visited the scene but did not report it in the press. The news of the discovery spread however and a trek of curious persons followed. Last Saturday visitors poked the bear and awakened it from hibernation and it fled the intruders, leaving its three cubs. The bear was tracked for a mile and seemed intent on leaving the area so Conservation Officer Gerald Welling took the three cubs to his home at Hermansville to bottle feed them. They weigh about 3 pounds apiece and will be taken to the Cusino wildlife laboratory of the Conservation Department. The bear had denned in an old cedar stump but January rains created a pool there and she moved out and burrowed a bit into a side of the stump, with about three-quarters of her body exposed to the weather. In the accompanying picture by Mrs. David Draz before the bear was disturbed its head is away from the camera. Mrs. Draz said "The bear kept moving its muscles in hibernation. It weighed an estimated 250 to 300 pounds and it made growling sounds and its cubs could be heard beneath it." Miller discovered the bear about three weeks ago when it left its winter den and curled up alongside it. Veterinarians said the bear would have been content and safe in its exposed position, except for humans.

Cancer Crusade Goals Reviewed

The individual volunteer Cancer Crusader is possibly the best help now available in the fight against cancer. This was the message of the American Cancer Society and the Michigan Cancer Society to volunteers from seven Upper Peninsula counties in sessions in Escanaba Tuesday at the House of Ludington. Maynard Reghi and Robert Waite, Lansing, of the Michigan Cancer Society, said that 500,000 new cases of cancer will be discovered in 1964 and that 290,000 persons will die of cancer. Ninety thousand of these deaths are needless, for the persons could be saved if the Crusaders reach them in time, the speakers said. Lung cancer is now the most prevalent and deadly. Uterine and breast cancer were most deadly a few years ago, but are now less dangerous because Cancer Crusade volunteers have alerted women to the need to seek medical and surgical help at the first sign of trouble. The Cancer Crusade will open April 1 and Michigan's goal is $880,000 to aid in financing research and service. The goals have been raised because the research projects were four million dollars short of their needs last year. Representatives of Delta, Menominee, Schoolcraft, Marquette, Alger, Dickinson and Iron counties Cancer Societies attended the meeting here Tuesday. The Delta County goal this year is $7,203 compared to last year's $6,900. Arnold Wilson and Earl DeForge are chairman and co-chairman for the drive in Escanaba. Crusade bumper stickers are to be distributed in the county the second week in March. Regular meeting of Escanaba Commandery 47 will be held at the Masonic Temple Thursday at 7:30 p. m. The midweek Lenten service at Bethany Lutheran Church this evening will begin at 7:30, instead of 8, as first announced. The officers, directors and committee chairmen of the Delta County Historical Society, and other interested persons, will meet at the Chamber of Commerce Building in Escanaba at 8 tonight. Plans for the year's activities will be discussed. E. F. Brunet, Refrigeration & Electric Service, local distributor for Tyler refrigeration equipment, will attend the company's 1964 international sales meeting in Chicago's Pick-Congress Hotel Feb. 23-25. Veterans of World War I and Auxiliary, Barracks 1128, will meet at VFW Hall at 8 p. m. Thursday. A social hour will follow the meeting says Commander William Garbett. All veterans of World War I, their wives, widows or sisters are invited. Saturday, Feb. 22, Washington's birthday, will be observed as a legal holiday. There will be no window service, delivery of mail on city or rural routes, by the Post Office. There will be collection, receipt and dispatch of mail on a holiday schedule, said Postmaster James Pryal. James V. Thompson, claim representative for State Farm Mutual Automobile Insurance, 1007 Ludington St., has been awarded a diploma from Vale Technical Institute at Blairsville, Pa. He has just returned from a three-weeks training course in auto damage estimating and repair techniques.

Traffic Officer Killer Convicted

DETROIT (AP) — A young Detroit was found guilty of second-degree murder Tuesday in the fatal shooting of a police officer who had stopped him for erratic driving. A Recorder's Court jury deliberated 15 hours before finding George E. Colby Jr., 22, guilty in the March 23, 1963 slaying of Sgt. Selwyn Adams.

School Election:

Vote To Assume Ford River Debt

Voters of the Escanaba Area Public Schools district will have before them the question of assuming the former Ford River school district debt in an election to be held April 6. The decision to put the question to an Area School district vote was made by the school board after a joint discussion of the subject with the Ford River Township Board at the Ford River Town Hall last evening. The decision of the school board to put the question on the April 6 ballot was supported unanimously by a vote of the Ford River Township Board. The Township Board asked that the use of paper ballots for the election in Ford River be considered. Approximately a $25,000 indebtedness remains in the Ford River account. The debt was incurred by Ford River voters to build a new elementary school prior to annexation.

If the debt of about $25,000 were spread uniformly throughout the Area district (Ford River, Cornell and Wells Township and the City of Escanaba) it could be paid off in one year at a rate of about one-half mill. Ford River to retire the remaining debt alone, the rate would have to be 4.1 mills in 1964-65 and 1965-66 and one-half mill in 1966-67. The school board said it believes approval of the proposal by the voters is important in establishing uniform tax rates for both operation and debt service in the Area district. Library Service In other business the school board approved a request of John Pearson of Escanaba for rental of the commons area of the new Area High School for April 2, 3, 4 and 5, during the school's Easter recess. Pearson asked use of the commons for a home and sports show. The rental charge will be sufficient to cover all expense of the use of the school. Mrs. A. M. Gilbert, Area High School librarian, was commended by the board for her interest in making library facilities fully available to students, and approved on a four-week trial basis use of the library by "honor card" students from 7 to 9 p. m. Tuesdays and Thursdays. The students are those working on term papers. David Laakso, band director, and the music department of the Area schools, were commended by the board for the success of the summer band camp program. The camp at Clear Lake in the Hiawatha National Forest will be expanded to two weeks this year. A student loan application by John Hansen of Escanaba was approved by the board. Hansen is a senior at Northern Michigan University.

U.P.'s Dairymen Lick Test Needs By Mail Service

Once a month dairyman Leland Pawley of Gulliver carefully collects a milk sample from each of his 35 Holsteins, places it in miniature bottles and a special shipping carton and mails them 107 miles to a milk-testing laboratory in Stephenson.

A few days later the Schoolcraft County dairyman receives a report which tells him whether each cow needs more or less grain ration and hay, needs a rest from the milking parlor or should be culled from the herd.

The "mail-in" milk testing service is new to the Upper Peninsula and to the state. Encouraged by the same trend—fewer but larger dairy herds—that recently brought a merger of several U. P. dairy co-ops, the "mail-in" testing service is solving a critical problem. The larger, more commercial dairy farmers are scattered thinly throughout the Upper Peninsula. There aren't enough concentrated in certain areas so they can afford their own county testing associations as they once could. Yet, to stay competitive the U. P. dairymen need more than ever the scientific check on how well each cow is converting expensive feed to milk and butterfat.

The Stephenson "mail-in" testing service was started by the same spirit of teamwork that has solved many other farm problems to keep agriculture in the forefront as one of the Upper Peninsula's main industries.

Because of a decline in the number of dairymen several of the county milk testing associations had closed shop. Even in Menominee County, the heart of the U. P. agricultural area, the milk testing association needed more members to operate efficiently. Michigan State University County Extension Director Gail Bowers reasoned that the Menominee Association could easily test for dairymen in other counties. The big hurdle—to find suitable containers for shipping the milk samples. This was solved by suggestions from farmers who found a non-breakable bottle that was easily cleaned.

Once the service was established, dairy producer groups, county agents, newspapers and radio stations spread the word to producers throughout the central peninsula.

The laboratory now has 132 customers located in Menominee, Schoolcraft, Delta, Marquette, Ontonagon, Dickinson and Iron Counties and 18 are on the mail-in service. Each pays 25 cents per cow per month—a fraction of the cost of supporting their own testing association with a small membership.

The Menominee Association hopes to soon expand enough to move into a larger laboratory and to hire another tester so two technicians can be available for on-the-farm service to aid farmers with special production and feeding problems.

Pawley likes the service and says it has helped him boost butterfat production of his herd from 325 to 398 pounds per cow.

John Hartman of Cooks who also signed up for the service, hadn't tested his herd since the early 50's when a local testing service was discontinued.

"We can do a better job now that we are again able to identify and cull out our 'boarder' cows," concludes Hartman.

But hawthornes have several redeeming features. Their rough shaggy picturesque shape and dense growth make them attractive hedge plants. They are also prized for their small, white flowers borne in clusters during early spring, colorful autumn foliage, colored fruits in autumn and winter, and winter birds these fruits attract.

Several species are available, but the Washington Hawthorn is the most popular. It's upright in growth. The foliage provides dense shade and turns brilliant orange to scarlet in autumn. Flowers bloom in large white clusters during late spring, followed by bright red berries in autumn.

How To Reduce Idleness Draws Varied Ideas

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Ideas on how to cut unemployment are almost as numerous as persons out of work. Everyone is against large-scale unemployment. But often he's also against the other fellow's plan for making more jobs.

On the same day this week that the secretary of labor was making a plea for cutting down overtime to spread the work, labor leaders were advocating shorter work weeks with the same goal in view, and the president of the nation's second largest bank was saying both schemes were unsound and more harmful than helpful.

Tax cut advocates were sure their goal would solve the problem by boosting the economy. Some union leaders were saying higher wage scales would do the trick better by getting the money where it counts.

Government economists were urging labor and management to work closer on all problems, chronic or acute, including the role of automation in the loss of jobs.

Some saw more education and discouragement of student drop-outs as the cure. And plans for retraining those whose jobs had been eliminated were as varied in size and scope as they were numerous.

Earlier retirements appealed to many in labor ranks—especially the younger ones. The United Automobile Workers Union was reported studying a scheme whereby the work week of workers over the age of 60 would be progressively shortened. This would let the older worker "get used to retirement ahead of time" — and provide more of the available work for the younger ones.

The steel industry is trying longer vacations for senior workers.

Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz' assault on the recent increase in overtime when so many are out of work was in support of an administration plan to set higher rates for overtime in industries where it figured that that would make employers create more jobs instead. But the secretary was against the plan of many union labor leaders to cut the official work week to 35 hours from 40.

In the auto industry overtime averaged 5.4 hours last October. The union figured wiping that out would add 60,000 jobs. Wirtz, looking at office jobs, said 1.5 million clerical workers currently work 41 or more hours a week while 400,000 others are looking for office jobs. The administration contends that making overtime too expensive would create more jobs.

But David Rockefeller, president of the Chase Manhattan Bank, told a Detroit audience that raising overtime pay from time and a half to double time was a defeatist approach, and a 35-hour week would also be inadequate.

Many employers have taken the same line: Double time pay for overtime would increase costs without creating many jobs, since much overtime is on an emergency basis to meet a rush of orders, equipment breakdowns or worker absenteeism. If it cost too much the employer was more likely just to eliminate it, thereby losing the order or delaying shipment; the worker would lose the extra pay he now gets at times; the consumer might have to pay higher prices because of higher

Burroughs Corp. Earnings Drop

DETROIT (AP)—Burroughs Corp. reported Tuesday that a $48 million dropoff in defense revenues resulted in a $35.4 million decline in total revenues for 1963 and a decrease in net earnings.

The firm said total revenues for 1963 were $390,773,545 compared with $424,680,614 in 1962. Net earnings were $8,508,883 or $1.22 a share, compared with $9,492,588 or $1.42 a share in 1962.

Banat Church's 50th Year Stirs Many Memories

Observance of the golden anniversary of Holy Rosary Church at Banat in northwest Menominee County recalls the founding of one of the distinctive villages of the Upper Peninsula.

Banat is named for a region in Yugoslavia of the same name. It was so named because the developers planned to create there on the new Wisconsin & Michigan Railroad a community in which the farmers would live in a village and walk out to till their farms, Old World style. This was a departure from the familiar pattern of American frontier development, with isolated farmsteads which created service centers that grew into hamlets when the country became sufficiently settled.

In Banat the original plan of village residence for the farmers of the settlement didn't develop fully. They tended toward American ways, but the community kept a rather unusual homogeneity because of the common nationality of its German-Hungarian settlers. Outsiders, interested in the communal experiment, called Frank Schmidt, one of the founders, "King" of the colony in a simplification of America's reaction to a colony of immigrants with a leader.

Others of the first pioneers were Michael Aman, John Drier, Michael Ziel, Martin Frank and Adam Hirsch. Steve Reisner and Jacob Kenton.

The colony moved in 1910 and Mass was offered at first in the Gardner School nearby. In 1914 Holy Rosary Church was built. Until 1921 it was a mission of the Church of the Precious Blood at Stephenson and Father Carl Liedgens would drive a team of white horses the 12 miles from Stephenson to Banat to say Mass each Sunday.

When the Parish of St. Frederick's was created Sept. 16, 1921 in Daggett with Father Frank Seifert as pastor, it took over Holy Rosary at Banat because of proximity and the pastor of St. Frederick's has served the Banat church since then.

Father John H. Ryan is the current pastor and he was joined by Rt. Rev. Msgr. Glen Sanford of Stephenson and Father Gino Ferraro of Nadeau in the memorial Mass on the church's 50th anniversary. The Rt. Rev. Robert Chisholm of Menominee in his sermon commended the parishioners on their perseverance and achievement.

Father Ryan, a former chaplain of Escanaba St. Francis Hospital, commemorated his 50th birthday at the same time he marked the 50th anniversary of the parish of the Holy Rosary.

The Wisconsin & Michigan Railroad is gone, along with the dream of its founders that it would provide a new route from Minneapolis to Chicago via a Lake Michigan car ferry line from Peshtigo Harbor, Wis., to Chicago. The "Whisky Mish" developed its car ferry line and built its rails from Peshtigo Harbor to Iron Mountain but encountered financial scandal. Taken over by a contractor, John Marsch, it was bottled and operated from Menominee to Iron Mountain as a connecting line. The Ford Motor Co. operations at Iron Mountain helped it for a time, but in the 1930s its rails were taken up.

The grade is still there but there were no train whistles to salute Holy Rosary Church on its semi-centennial.

Tax On Loaders Halved By State

A 50 per cent reduction has been granted by the Michigan Department of Revenue on sales or use tax on hydraulic loaders installed on trucks used in woods operations, announced the Michigan Department of Revenue and the Timber Producers Association.

At a meeting in Lansing between Donovan J. Rau, deputy revenue commissioner and his staff and members of the Timber Producers Association, the problems of the small loggers in Michigan were outlined, especially the payment of sales or use tax on loaders attached on trucks.

If the loader is used to load pulpwood or logs from the woods and then is used to unload at a landing or sawmill yard, a 50 per cent allowance will be granted for sales or use tax on the purchase of all future new and used hydraulic loaders mounted on trucks. This is because the loader is being used as an unloader of raw material at the receiving dock of the mill. This agreement has no application to any other equipment purchased by the loggers. The ruling is effective Feb. 10.

Most Maya cities had at least one ball court.

In Service

Cornelius E. Bartley, an Escanaba native, was promoted by the U. S. Army to the rank of major recently. He attended Escanaba Public Schools and graduated from Escanaba High School in 1943.

Hog Inventory Cut, Prices Off

LANSING (AP)—An off year for hog prices has caused a decline of 11 per cent in the inventory of hogs in Michigan during the past year.

Only 705,000 hogs were counted in the Jan. 1 farm animal census by federal and state departments of agriculture.

A spokesman for the federal agency said the gradual price decline had led many farmers to market off part of their hog stocks.

The total animal units in Michigan were about three per cent below the previous year's count, with total cattle holding steady at 1,750,000 head and declines in turkeys, sheep and lambs. There was a slight increase in chickens.

Nationally, cattle on-farm stock were at a record high, three per cent above the 103.7 million head on hand a year ago.

Total value of farm animals in Michigan is estimated at $302.5 million, down six per cent, and in the United States at $15.7 billion, down nine per cent.

Rural Regions Going Slow On Home Rule Bills

LANSING (AP) — Spokesmen for Michigan's rural areas agreed Monday that some form of county home rule legislation should be enacted this year—but vowed a fight against efforts to "ram county home rule down our throats."

Discussion of proposed legislation to permit counties to adopt charters and change their governments highlighted a conference called by Gov. George W. Romney on county government.

Singled out for the sharpest attack was a plan which would permit counties adopting charters to appoint, rather than elect, their constitutional officers.

D. Hale Brake, director of the education division of the Michigan State Association of Supervisors, contended this would he said, "The legislature must deal with it this year, or next year or the year after."

"We should let the big counties have everything they need, but not everything they think they need. But let's not say we don't want county home rule—let's just have the right kind."

The meeting was the first of a series to be called by Romney to deal with various issues in government. Annexation, election of county officers under the new Constitution and other subjects also were discussed. The home rule plans evoked the most interest.

Romney fought off accusations that he seeks to force adoption of county home rule, to which the Constitution opens the door, by all Michigan counties.

Carl Mowrey, a Midland County supervisor, quoted Romney as having said "all counties should be treated alike."

Romney retorted: "I never said that, and that is not my position. I have said many times that it is a mistake to expect a county like Wayne to operate on the same basis as one like Keweenaw."

The governor added that any county home rule legislation enacted by lawmakers would be "only permissive."

Brake drew a standing ovation from about half the audience of 125 persons when he declared his opposition to appointing such county officers as sheriffs, clerks and prosecutors, and to other aspects of the governor's study committee report.

Also singled out as "objectionable" by Brake were proposals that would enable Wayne County, if it adopted a charter, to duplicate the functions of other government units, and a committee recommendation that all members of a board could be appointed.

On a show of hands requested by Romney, the group indicated it favored adoption by the legislature of some form of county home rule legislation.

It also was virtually unanimous in support of requiring that constitutional county officers be required to stand for election in any county adopting charter government.

Communications Service Controls Planes In Air

K. I. SAWYER AIR FORCE BASE — Every hour of the day thousands of aircraft, ranging in size from tiny liaison craft to enormous bombers and transports, take off and land at the 300-odd bases operated by the U. S. Air Force. Regardless of their unit, mission or location, they are controlled by a single organization — the Air Force Communications Service.

At this Strategic Air Command Base, the world-wide services are provided by the 2001st Communications Squadron commanded by Capt. Doyle K. Chapman. It is a small, 85-man unit with a large responsibility in air traffic control.

The organization has a single goal: to provide air traffic control service to flights in the K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base areas. This includes an airspace extending out to 40 miles and up to an altitude of 8,000 feet.

Because the Federal Aviation Agency has granted permission to the squadron controllers, who are fully licensed by the government, the tactical air navigation facility also controls civilian aircraft flights to and from the Marquette County Airport within the 40-mile, 8,000-foot range.

Under the instrument flight rules of the Agency, control of military aircraft flights above the 8,000-foot level may be handed to the squadron control from the air route traffic center at Minneapolis under individual incidents.

The organization operates two important control facilities, the control tower looming up over the base operations building, and the complex of orange-and-white trailers located on the west side of the 13,000-foot runway. These facilities make up the radar approach control which handles all instrument flights within the area.

This complicated arrangement of wires, tubes and electronic components is a combination of the approach control, formerly located in the control tower, and the familiar ground control approach. The result gives radar eyes to approach control while broadening the capabilities to precision final approach radar.

Persons familiar with the usual military system of related grades and responsibilities, are often surprised to discover that precisely the same work performed by airmen of the squadron is assigned to senior officers in foreign countries and civilian employees in the Federal Aviation Agency. A2C John R. Morrin, now in his second year of Air Force service, is 20. A2C Fred Rivera, a veteran of three years at the controls in the tower, is 21. A2C Abel Borg, whose cool and crisp voice is a familiar part of the ground approach final, is 22.

To balance the record, senior controller, T-Sgt. James R. Jarrell, and a tower chief, T-Sgt. Sidney B. Berry together have more than 32 years of experience in air traffic control. M-Sgt. Robert L. Townsend, chief radar controller, estimates that he has "brought in" over 25,000 flights with the ground control approach system.

It is part of the American system of control that the "man on the mike" is the authority, making continuous and accurate decisions within split seconds, often in involved and constantly changing situations where adverse weather, high speeds and delicate equipment add to the nerve-tingling pressure.

In addition to these control facilities, the 2001st Communications Squadron also maintains the base's radio aids used by pilots for navigation in the area.

Solon Proposes Higher License For Small Cars

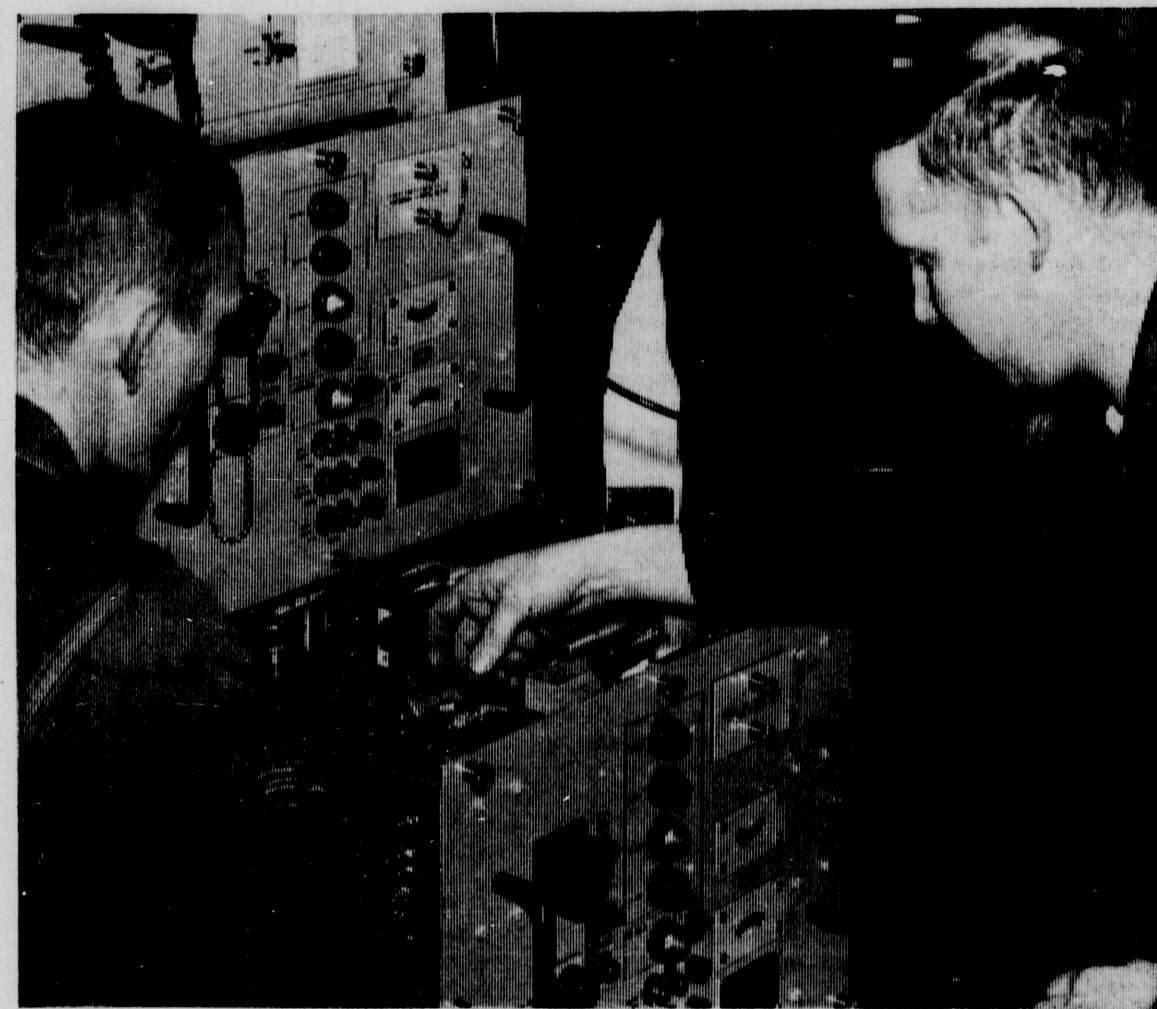

LANSING (AP)—A bill ready for introduction by Senator Haskell Nichols, R-Jackson, would make license plates for small foreign cars as expensive as those for many U.S. makes.

The bill would end the method of pricing plates on a basis of 35 cents per 100 pounds and would make the cheapest license cost $10, scaled up to $16 for the heavier cars.

Volkswagen owners can buy plates for less than $6 because their cars weigh less than 1,700 pounds. Even compact economy models of domestic cars weigh closer to 3,000 pounds, the minimum weight figured in the Nichols scale.

"These little cars ought to be made to pay their fair share for a license," he said. "They're using the road just the same as the big cars."

His bill also would increase weight tax rates for trucks, trailers, tractors and passenger-carriers.

Buckets Fulla Dollars

Maple Syrup Is Called Bonanza Bet In Peninsula

The Upper Peninsula is being urged to try a big economic spring tonic.

It could pour thousands and thousands of dollars into the Upper Peninsula each year and provide work for hundreds.

The investments could be small and the profits substantial.

The resource that would be converted into new money is so abundant in the Upper Peninsula that there's no possibility that it will ever be all used.

Where marketing is the chief bugaboo of new industrial enterprises, it is all set and ready to perk for this industry, with acceptance assured for the full production from the Upper Peninsula.

This was the challenge developed Tuesday by a Maple Syrup Institute at Powers-Spaulding High School under sponsorship of Michigan State University's Extension Service. It was attended by 80 persons, the largest group ever assembled in the Upper Peninsula to consider the business potential of the sap that flows in sugar maples in the spring.

New Dimensions

Maple syrup making has an "image" in the Upper Peninsula. It is of a pin money operation by farmers in early spring when they can't farm or log. This image has been out of date for years — most sugar bush operators are sizeable and many are not operated by farmers — but the old impression of a kettle full of maple sap boiling over a wood fire and tended by a red-eyed, sleepless farmer persists.

It isn't that kind of "for us and our neighbors" syrup boiling that the specialists from MSU have in mind for the Upper Peninsula. They're suggesting the possibilities of a big seasonal industry to augment rural income substantially. As they laid it out for the landowners Tuesday it can consist of a system that has proved successful elsewhere, with the owners of sugar bushes (groves of hard maples) bringing the sap into central sugar houses for evaporation. The sap is metered and tested for sugar content and payment is made on that basis.

Some of the sap would probably be collected by plastic tube systems that run from tree to tree and are equipped with pumps to lift the flow over hills and hummocks.

For Tourists

Much of the production would probably go to marketing organizations or other organizations which would maintain standards of quality and sell the products and they would include not only the familiar maple syrup which is now about the only product of Upper Peninsula sugar bushes, but also maple sugar, maple candies and maple cream, a foamy spread that's whipped up from a syrup base.

Where Upper Peninsula boilers have been getting about $6 a gallon delivered for their syrup, dealers in maple products raise this to $12 a gallon by conversion to maple cream, and as much as $50 a gallon by novelty packaging in small containers.

Dr. P. W. Robbins, professor of forestry at MSU and a hobbyist maple syrup researcher, said that maple products would give the Upper Peninsula's gift shops and roadside stands something authentically native to sell to tourists and ease the dependence upon Japanese-made novelties.

Roy E. Skog of Marquette, MSU Extension forester, says the 1959 agricultural census reported the U. P. had 80 farms hanging 17,023 sap buckets and making 3,201 gallons of syrup, but that these figures were too conservative.

Millions Of Acres

Skog said the U. P. has 3 million acres of northern hardwood forests in which sugar maples are the main trees. Some of these are in government forests and not accessible to sap collectors, but there are many millions of sugar maples in private ownership which could return their owners the $1 a tree average income reported to the institute by Lynn H. Reynolds of the Reynolds Sugar Bush, Aniwa, Wis., largest producer of maple syrup in the world. (Wisconsin ranks third in syrup production after Vermont and New York, but a poor third.) Reynolds said a central evaporating plant could be constructed at a cost of about $13,000, but R. W. Hartwig, MSU agriculture economist of Marquette, estimated syrup production costs (sap and processing) at $3.50 a gallon in the U. P. where Reynolds thought it would be about $2.72. Reynolds rents trees at 7 cents a tap, which brings the owner from $3.50 to $5.60 an acre a year.

Lester E. Bell, MSU forestry specialist, told of the great advances made by Vermont, New York State and Quebec sugar bushes in both processing and marketing. He said that Upper Peninsula syrup was superior but that only a tiny bit of the maple industry potential of the U. P. is now being used. "You have a tremendous acreage of maple and it leads us to believe that if we had 10 times the market that we don't have the product to sell," said Bell.

Extension Directors Gail Bowers of Menominee County and Joseph Heirman of Delta County presided at the institute.

34 Deer Killed

Cars killed 34 deer on Upper Peninsula Highways in January. Most were killed in the Crystal Falls district, where the count was 14, and the second largest number was 13 in the Newberry District. The Escanaba District had 3 killed and the Baraga District 4.

Fr. LaMothe Rites Friday

Funeral services for Father Gerard LaMothe, pastor of St. Mary's Church, Hermansville, will be held at a Solemn Requiem High Mass Friday at 11 a.m. at St. Mary's. The Mass will be chanted by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Nolan McKevitt, vicar general of the Diocese of Marquette and the Priests' Choir will sing the music of the service.

Following the Mass at Hermansville the body will be removed to St. Cecilia Church, Lake Linden, and a Requiem Mass will be offered there at 10 a.m. Saturday. Burial will be in Mount Calvary Cemetery, Lake Linden.

The body of Father LaMothe will be in state at Kell-Tondin Chapel, Spaulding, beginning this afternoon and will be removed Thursday at 3 p.m. to St. Mary's Church. A parish rosary will be recited this evening at 8 at the chapel and again Thursday at 8 p.m. at St. Mary's. Members of the Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus Assembly, Menominee, will form an honor guard at St. Mary's at 7:30 p.m. Thursday.

Shriver Sworn To Direct Drive Against Poverty

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sargent Shriver was sworn in Tuesday as a special assistant to President Johnson to direct the administration's antipoverty campaign.

Johnson and members of the Cabinet were on hand as Herbert Miller, White House administrative officer, administered the oath to Shriver.

"Now you can officially wage war and make peace at the same time," Johnson told Shriver who will continue to direct the Peace Corps.

Senior Citizens Center Helped

"Response has been excellent from organizations and the general public in furnishing the Drop In Center for senior citizens at 714 Ludington St.," Leo Laviolette, chairman of the project, reported at a meeting of the Senior Citizens Committee of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce at the Chamber building Tuesday.

The City of Escanaba is furnishing utilities for the center and the Harnischfeger UAW Local, the Teamsters Union, the Pulp & Sulphite Workers and the Delta Trades & Labor Council are underwriting the rent of the building for a year. The Escanaba Altrusa Club is providing draperies.

Laviolette reported that there has been a good response from the general public with furniture for the Center.

"There is still a need for a vacuum sweeper, a clock, a clothes rack or hall tree, smoking stands, floor and table lamps, end tables, davenports, folding chairs, a 9x12 linoleum rug, mops and buckets, a garbage can, books, magazines, book case and a TV," said Laviolette.

Laviolette emphasized that the Center will be open to both men and women senior citizens and will be supervised.

William Mattson, Former Newberry Carpenter Dies

NEWBERRY—William (Bill) Mattson, 74, long-time Newberry resident, died Tuesday at 10 p. m. at his home, 310 Washington Blvd., after a long illness. He was a retired carpenter.

He was born in Petalaks, Finland, March 7, 1889, and came to Newberry in February of 1907. He married the former Lilly Pekkanen in Newberry Dec. 27, 1928. He was a veteran of World War I and was a member of Messiah Lutheran Church.

Surviving are his wife, three sons, William of Williamston, Mich., Carl and Roger, with the U. S. Navy at Great Lakes, Ill., and four grandchildren.

Friends may call at the Beaulieu Funeral Home after 2 p. m. Friday. Services will be held at Messiah Lutheran Church Saturday at 2 p. m. The Rev. Charles Beckingham will officiate. Burial will be in Forest Home Cemetery.

Eastern Areas Get Wet Snow

By The Associated Press

A major storm which hit southeast areas with drenching rain and tornado winds swept into eastern sections of the nation today, dumping heavy snow in many areas.

Snow depths of 16 inches were reported in Harrisburg, including a foot in a 7-hour period. Nearly a foot of snow covered the ground in Phillipsburg, in central Pennsylvania, and in Martinsburg, W. Va. Visibility was reported zero at times in Allentown, Pa.

Heavy wet snow fell in mountain sections of North Carolina with up to 14 inches at Mount Mitchell. More than a half foot of snow was reported in the Virginia mountains.

Heavy snow warnings were in effect for the Ohio Valley and most of the middle and north Atlantic states. Amounts up to a foot were indicated in parts of the central Appalachians and southern New England.

Rain fell in some eastern areas during the night, with more than one inch reported in Delaware, eastern Maryland and southern New Jersey.

Gale warnings were displayed along the Atlantic Coast from Cape May, N.J. to Eastport, Maine, as the storm churned into New England.

Briefly Told

Gladstone—The Ladies Aid of St. Paul's Lutheran Church will meet at 2 p. m. Thursday. Mrs. Theophil Hoffmann will be the hostess.

Clayton Dean, 46, of 1111 1st Ave. N., arrested by Escanaba police last night on Ludington St., today denied a disorderly charge and will receive hearing later in municipal court. A charge of driving on a revoked license was dismissed by the court because of a technicality.

Traffic court summonses have been issued by Escanaba police to Darrell D. Butler, Bark River Rte. 1, William V. Eis, 315 S. 17th St., and to Ruth E. Guennette, Escanaba Rte. 1, all for speeding; and to Daniel C. Skopp, 518 S. 13th St., improper license plates.

Ditch Falls In; 3 Men Killed

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP)—Three men were killed and a fourth injured Tuesday when the side of a 20-foot-deep ditch gave way at a construction site.

The dead were Leslie Cantrell, 36, Midwest City; Glen Smith, in his 30s, of Oklahoma City, and Kenneth Harting, 39, Glencoe.

College Kids Who Care Spark MSU Peace Corps

By ALEX LAGGIS
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
EAST LANSING, Mich. (NEA)—Michigan State University's homespun version of the Peace Corps is now just one year old—but already it has been hailed as the cure for everything from bad race relations to high school dropouts.

Officially it is known as the Student Education Corps (SEC), but a surprisingly large number of its 200 enthusiastic student volunteers have never taken an education course in their collegiate lives and have no intention of doing so.

For the most part, the MSU group sprang up because of Congress' failure to legislate a domestic Peace Corps to aid America's own underprivileged children, according to the man who started the MSU program, education professor, Dr. David Gottlieb.

Today more than 30 schools in 22 communities receive help. Since last February when the first caravans left campus for nearby cities, the program has grown quickly.

***

All-American football players, science majors, education students and even folk singers have volunteered to take a once-a-week turn on a student caravan which regularly visits depressed areas in Michigan. The students do it for the sheer love of helping others. Even the gasoline used is paid for by the volunteers.

"Sadder part about the whole program," says Gottlieb, "is that we still have more schools desiring help than we have volunteers."

Despite this shortcoming, the program continues to receive rare raves.

Ross Pritchard, consultant to Sargent Shriver, head of the U. S. Peace Corps, examined the MSU plan first-hand and proclaimed:

"This is one of the most exciting programs I have ever seen in any college community."

***

A congressional study group which was seeking data on setting up such a program on a national level asked for detailed information on MSU's corps to use as a guide.

Already similar organizations are being established by the University of Michigan, Wayne State University, and the University of California at Berkeley.

It is Dr. Gottlieb's contention "if just 100 students from every university and college in the country did likewise, there would be no dropout problem in the United States."

MSU VOLUNTEER works with slow learners in Lansing public school.

'64 Corvair Monza by Chevrolet

It's got a frisky new engine
(that puts superior traction under you)

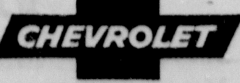

Ever see a Corvair wearing tire chains? Not likely.

And it's not often you'll find a Corvair owner bothering to switch over to snow tires either.

Why? Rear-engine traction. The engine weight over Corvair's rear wheels gives them remarkable gripping power without any assist from special winter driving paraphernalia.

Reassuring to know this time of year—and also in the months to come when all that tidy white countryside turns into a melting pot that's likely to add to the misery.

Another thing about Corvair's engine: It's bigger this year.

Nearly 19 per cent more power in the standard version. Which is something you'll appreciate most any time of year, fair weather or foul.

You'll also appreciate not having to fool around with antifreeze. And not having to flush the radiator or fuss with hose connections. The engine's air cooled.

Matter of fact, we have a feeling that if more people knew what a cinch Corvair makes winter driving, there wouldn't be quite so many looking for excuses to duck South this time every year.

But then you never know. Corvair's a kick to drive in warm weather, too. Why not try one at your dealer's and decide for yourself?

501 Stephenson Ave. — Escanaba, Michigan — Phone ST 6-5020

What is serving in the student corps like?

Connie Stephenson, a part 20-year-old senior from Grand Rapids, Mich., said, "It was very scary at first. I didn't know what to expect. But once it got under way it was tremendously satisfying."

Connie already was doing eight hours of office work a week for extra money, was president of her dormitory unit and was faced with the usual study burdens.

"But the projects seemed so worth it while that I just wanted to help," she said.

***

So Connie crowded her school activities into six days of the week and is now spending the other day from noon until late afternoon in Morrice, a farm village some 18 miles north of Lansing.

There she plays classical music for older children and Mother Goose rhymes for kindergartners during their lunch hour, and tries to teach anyone willing how to read music in between. The school has no regular music instructor.

Stuart Strait, a 23-year-old graduate student, was impressed by the corps' avowed aim "to keep potential dropouts in school by whetting their appetites for learning."

Strait worked with underprivileged children at a predominantly Negro school in Pontiac.

Like the Pontiac school, most of the schools which ask for help are located in deprived areas where welfare and unemployment checks are the biggest sources of income.

For the most part, the MSU volunteers help teach students in the subjects they themselves are majoring in. But one of the best-received groups is a folk-singing caravan which visits area schools and performs at assemblies.

A theater group presents Shakespearean plays to eager youngsters who have never seen a stage production before.

"Those we are trying to help the most are the students who are classified as mildly mentally retarded. They come from areas of environmental retardation and are unable to keep up academically with their classmates," Gottlieb explains.

"These children usually have personality, emotional and social problems that interfere with their learning. This retardation is rarely the result of a physical or mental deficiency."

By acting as "big brothers," MSU students attempt to widen these youths' horizons and to entice them out of their environmental shells.

"It's amazing how much personal attention can actually accomplish," Gottlieb said. "Once these kids know that someone cares, the rest is easy."

Smallpox Shot Takes Left Arm Of Flint Baby

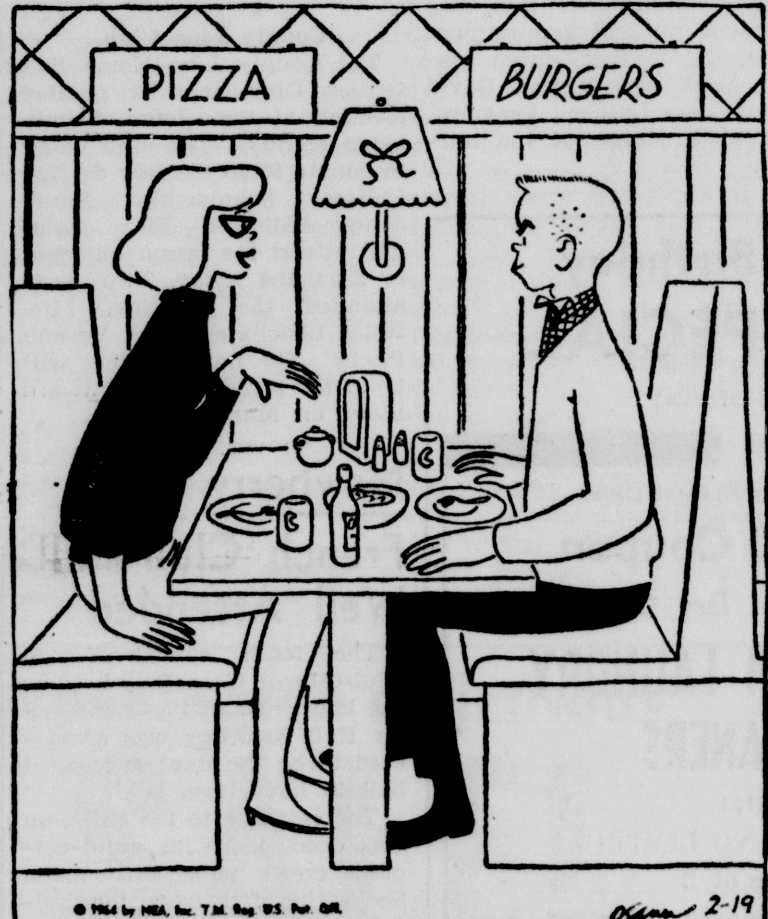

DENVER (AP)—Baby John Rozier Jr.'s left arm has been amputated at Colorado General Hospital, doctors reported Monday.

John is the year-old Flint, Mich., boy who was flown here Jan. 24 in an Air Force plane for special treatment of "vaccinia," a reaction to smallpox vaccine.

Doctors said the arm was removed in an effort to stop the spread of lesions in John's skin.

The baby's ailment was discovered after he was hospitalized at Flint shortly before Christmas for treatment of a high fever.

French Club Ball Well Attended

The tenth annual French Club Mardi Gras Ball held in the ball room of the Community Hall Saturday was considered to be the most successful ball to have been held.

The entrance to the ballroom was decorated with multi-colored crepe paper streamers. Serpentine fell from the balcony. There was a white false ceiling in the middle of the room, and at 11:30 Mrs. Otto DeWaard pulled the string that released a storm of confetti and hundreds of multi colored balloons.

Music was provided by the Northern Nites. Punch and cookies were served and chaperones were, Mr. and Mrs. John Bianchi, Mr. and Mrs. James Gunton and French teacher, Mrs. Otto DeWaard.

Talent Show For Parents' Club At Holy Name

From Beethoven to Beatles is quite a gamut, but fans of both will find something pleasing in the Student Talent Show which will be presented to the Holy Name High School Parents' Club Thursday at 8 p. m., in the multi-purpose room of the high school.

Fourteen acts, including solo and group performers in vocal, instrumental, and comedy-skits offerings, were selected by Sister Miriam Patrice, dramatic director, after a final screening. Hitherto undiscovered stars will be in the spotlight, as well as comparative veterans like the Nomads. While the trend this year is toward guitar music, organ music makes a strong first-time bid with two performers.

Coffee will be served by the club officers, Harold Anderson, Phil Miron, Mrs. William Beckstrom, Mrs. Leona Erickson, and board members, Mrs. Eleanor Sullivan, Joseph Bal, Arnold Wilson, Mrs. Ray Richards, Mrs. Earl Veldman, Mrs. George Harvey, Gordon Anderson, and Robert Snow.

Faculty members will be in their home rooms from 7 to 8 for parent-teacher consultation. The membership committee announces that cards may still be obtained during the evening. Friends as well as relatives are invited to enjoy the program.

Church Events

St. Stephen's Church
Mid-week Communion services will be held at 7 p. m. today at St. Stephen's Episcopal Church.

First Methodist

This evening's schedule at First Methodist Church includes Senior Choir at 6:30, Junior High MYF at 7 and Missionary service at 7:30.

League Breakfast

Immanuel Lutheran Luther League met at 7:45 a. m. today for the first of a series of Lenten breakfasts. Breakfasts will follow on March 4 and 18.

Dial-A-Prayer During Lent

Dial-a-Devotion has again this year become Dial-a-Prayer for the Lenten season. Those who dial 786-6772 will hear and share a one minute prayer in place of the usual devotion. The prayer is new each day.

At this evening's Lenten midweek service at Immanuel Lutheran Church, sponsors of Dial-a-Prayer in Escanaba, Robert Schrader and Pastor Gordon Thorpe will sing a duet, "O Lord Most Holy". A Lenten service is offered at Immanuel each Wednesday evening at 7:30. The public is invited.

Breakfast Worth Getting Up For

OLD-FASHIONED breakfast is simple to prepare—hominy and bacon bake in the oven while apple rings sizzle on top of the range.

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

A GREAT main course for breakfast is divided into three parts—crisp bacon, buttery hominy and fried sweet apple rings. The apple rings are a must because there's something about them that brings out the best in the bacon and hominy.

Originally this oldtime American breakfast trio was cooked on top of the range, and often it still is. The bacon is fried in a big skillet, removed and drained. Then the apple rings go into the bacon fat to get tender and flecked with golden-brown. The hominy, too, is cooked or heated in a saucepan.

But present-day cooks often like to change about to suit their convenience, and we find that putting the bacon and hominy in the oven suits ours.

We used canned hominy. This, as you know, is usually available in 1-pound and 1-pound, 13-ounce cans. Here in New York City only canned white hominy is generally around, but visiting down south we saw that the yellow variety also comes in cans. Count on three servings from the small can, six from the large.

To get the hominy ready, we drain two of the 1-pound cans and dump the hominy onto a large rectangular sheet of super-strength aluminum foil. Some bits of butter—about 2 tablespoons—are scattered over the hominy. Then we bring together the two long ends of the foil and fold them over a couple of times to make a drugstore fold. The two remaining ends are also folded over to make a tight seal.

In the meantime we've left a half-pound (12 slices) of bacon at room temperature so the slices can be separated easily. These we arrange on a large wire rack over a large foil-lined shallow roasting or broiling pan. The bacon will shrink during the baking, so if you have a lap over a few slices, just arrange them to give them all breathing space.

About half an hour before breakfast time we put the package of hominy on a rack in the center of a hot (400 degrees) oven for 10 to 15 minutes. Then we put the pan of bacon on the rack above; in the next 10 minutes or so the bacon gets crisp and golden-brown and the hominy finishes steaming.

While this baking is going on we get the apples ready. We first core but do not pare three large red-skinned apples and cut each into four rings—they should be about 1/2-inch thick. The apple rings go into hot butter in a large skillet to get puffy on the under side, then they're turned to cook the other side. Some cooks like to dip the apple rings in flour and sprinkle them with sugar before cooking; other cooks just use sugar; some use neither. Take your choice. But be sure to choose apples that will stay firm enough to keep their shape during the cooking.

If you want to use bacon drippings for cooking the apples, you can pour it out of the oven pan. It won't hurt the bacon or hominy to have a stay in the turned-off oven while you are preparing the apples. Or if you have bacon drippings in your refrigerator (from other bacon cooking) you can use those.

This breakfast fare we recommend for weekend enjoyment—with lots of good hot strong coffee to linger over.

For a pantry shelf fruit compute for unexpected guests, team a jar of figs with a can of apricots and one of pineapple chunks.

Danforth

Meeting Postponed
Regular meeting of Danforth-Soo Hill Home Extension Club, scheduled for Thursday, Feb. 20, has been postponed to Feb. 27.

Mrs. Harold Anderson, Soo Hill, is confined to St. Francis Hospital for treatment for a fractured hip suffered in a fall at her home.

Dennis Deacon, who is employed in Milwaukee, spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Ruelau. Mrs. Arthur Hammerberg of Danforth and Mrs. Paul Brazeau and Mrs. Theodore Makosky, Escanaba, returned after attending the funeral of Mrs. Gertrude Myers of Chicago.

Turn hot mashed seasoned potatoes into a shallow casserole or pie plate; fold grated cheese into a little whipped cream and spread over the potatoes. Broil until browned and serve at once.

Christ The King Service Tonight

Midweek Lenten services will be held this evening at 7:30 at Christ the King Lutheran Church with the pastor, the Rev. Erland Carlson, giving the meditation on the theme, "Only They Who Mourn Are Comforted." The Junior Choir will sing "In the Cross of Christ I Glory." This service will be repeated at Salem Lutheran Church in Bark River Thursday at 8 p. m.

Martha's Cake

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

To celebrate Washington's birthday, why not make a "Great Spiced Sour Cream Cake" from Martha Washington's favorite recipe book?

Although the cakes baked in Washington's day have little in common with our modern cakes, they were richly spiced with such present-day favorites as cinnamon, cloves, mace, nutmeg, ginger, anise seed and saffron. Rosewater and white wine were used with the spices; vanilla wasn't available, although it was being used in Europe.

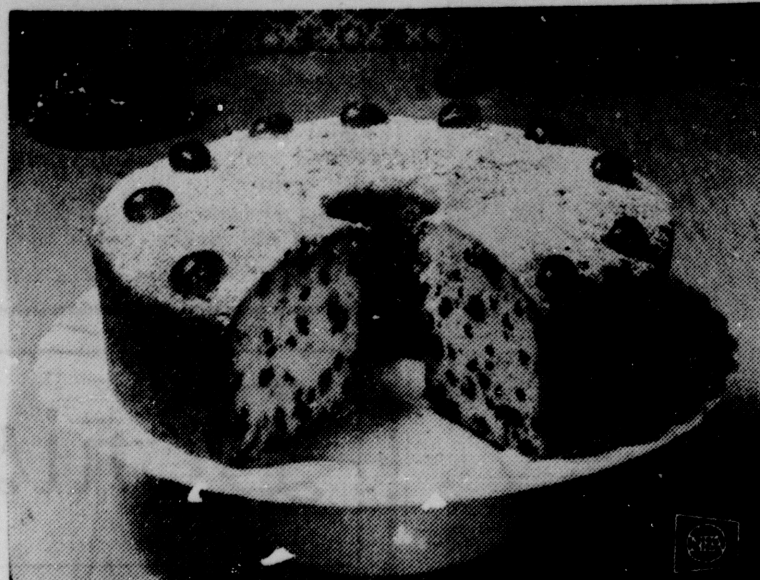

In the early days of the republic, baking powder was unknown. Baking soda was used very sparingly, but the real "blow-up" came from tireless beating of the richly egged batter. Cake flour wasn't in existence, and the layer cake as we know it today didn't exist. In the recipe book used by Martha Washington, there are, however, about a half dozen recipes for "great" cakes. These were actually loaf cakes since the recipe directs that they be baked in "deep pans."

MARTHA WASHINGTON'S GREAT SPICED SOUR CREAM CAKE (One 10-inch cake)

1 teaspoon soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon ground mace
1/2 teaspoon ground nutmeg
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
3/4 cup (1 1/2 sticks) butter
2 cups sugar
4 large eggs, separated
1 cup seedless raisins
1 cup currants
1/2 cup diced citron
1 tablespoon grated lemon peel
1 cup sour cream
2 tablespoons lemon juice
3 1/2 cups sifted all-purpose flour

Mix first 6 ingredients until fluffy. Gradually blend in sugar. Beat in egg yolks, one at a time. Stir in raisins, currants, citron and lemon peel. Add sour cream and lemon juice alternately until they stand in soft, stiff peaks and fold into the batter. Turn into a well-greased, lightly floured 10-inch tube cake pan. Bake in a preheated slow oven (275 degrees) 2 hours, 20 minutes, or until a cake tester inserted in the center comes out clean. Cool in pan 30 minutes. Turn out onto a wire rack to finish cooling. Store in airtight container.

Second-Ranked Michigan Is Upset By Minnesota

By The Associated Press

Maybe the Michigan Wolverines and the Duke Blue Devils won't be in the NCAA championship postseason tournament after all.

This unexpected development in college basketball came Tuesday night with Minnesota's 89-75 upset of the second-ranked Wolverines and Wake Forest's 72-71 surprise conquest of the fourth-ranked Blue Devils.

The defeat dropped Michigan into a tie for first place in the Big Ten Conference with Ohio State at 8-2. Duke's defeat ended a 28-game winning streak in the Atlantic Coast Conference and dimmed the Blue Devils' hopes in the ACC championship tournament next month.

Georgia Tech climbed back into a first place tie with Kentucky in the South eastern Conference by nipping Tennessee 47-45 and Texas A&M kept its one-game lead in the Southwest Conference by defeating Baylor 77-71.

Davidson, No. 8 in The Associated Press poll, crushed East Carolina 105-45 while Chicago Loyola, the defending national

Kaline Raps New Managers

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — Al Kaline, who has seen several Detroit Tiger managers head for the exit, figures the managerial changes are partly responsible for the team's slow starts these past few years.

Kaline said "almost every spring we have a new manager. That means he wants to take a look at everybody, especially in the hopes of coming up with a young pitcher."

"So the veteran pitchers see only limited service and by the time the season starts they're just not in shape."

Kaline is among the nearly 40 players at Lakeland, where the Tigers last Saturday opened their early camp for a look-see at the crop of rookies.

Finley Invited To Testify At Senate Session

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Senate subcommittee has stepped aside to let the American League have first crack at Charles O. Finley before deciding whether to summon him for questioning.

The hard - pressed Kansas City Athletics' owner has a date Friday in Boston with his fellow clubowners to explain why he hasn't obeyed their directive to sign an agreement to operate his baseball team next season in the Kansas City Municipal Stadium.

Finley's so far unsuccessful efforts to move his team from Kansas City have brought him in conflict with league officials and both Missouri senators. But that didn't prevent him

Big Ten Cage Race Tightens

CHICAGO (AP) — The race for the Big Ten basketball championship is on full force between Ohio State and Michigan with Minnesota holding an outside position.

Minnesota's Golden Gophers knocked off the second-ranked Wolverines, 89-75, Tuesday night to pull Michigan into a first-place tie with Ohio State.

Minnesota also advanced its cause by moving within one game of the league lead.

Ohio State, after winning three straight titles, tied Illinois for the conference championship last year and is in position to make it an unprecedented five straight championships.

Minnesota took a 43-25 half-time lead against the Wolverines and the closest Michigan could come within the lead was nine points. Sophomore Cazzie Russell led all scorers with 26 points and Bill Buntin added 22 for the Wolverines.

Since Michigan, Ohio State and Minnesota do not play each other anymore, the conference title will depend on the also rans.

Michigan appears to have the best chance since the Wolverines play at Wisconsin and at Iowa and host Illinois and Purdue. Chances are Michigan can win its last four games.

Ohio State may have trouble at Northwestern Saturday and later at Illinois. The Buckeyes also meet Indiana and Michigan State at home.

champion, whipped Bowling Green 92-83.

A Minneapolis turnout of 17,019 saw the Gophers pile up an 18-point lead in the first half and stay ahead in their upset of Michigan.

Cazzie Russell and Bill Buntin combined for 48 points, but the Wolverine stars didn't get much help. Lou Hudson and Terry Kunze each got 19 for Minnesota. Mel Northway added 16 and Don Yates 15.

Duke took the lead for the first time against Wake Forest with three minutes to go, but the Deacons regained the lead at 69-68 on Richard Herring's basket. Two free throws by Bob Leonard and one by Ronny Watts then offset Hack Tison's free throw and Jeff Mullins' Tipin with two seconds left.

Frank Christie's 26 points led the Deacons. Jay Buckley got 26 for Duke.

Maryland defeated North

Carolina 74-64, Portland downed Oregon 88-80, Virginia Tech edged Furman 78-75, Cincinnati whipped St. Joseph's Ind., 99-84 and Eastern Kentucky overcame Tennessee Tech 88-72 in other Tuesday games.

Duquesne was named to the NIT postseason tourney and Southeast Missouri, Assumption, Mass., Fisk and Cal Poly of Pomona to the NCAA small college championship tourney.

Green Bay Golden Gloves Champs Fight In Kenosha

The Green Bay Golden Gloves boxing team, including six Upper Peninsula champions, will fight in Kenosha Thursday night for the right to advance to the national tournament that opens in Louisville Feb. 24.

The Kenosha card will include eight open and eight novice bouts, matching champions from Green Bay against Kenosha tournament titlists for Wisconsin crowns. Only the open division winners at Kenosha are eligible to move on to the national tourney.

The Upper Peninsula champions wearing Green Bay colors at Kenosha will be Art Lopez, Frank Ciriza and Formus White of Sawyer Air Base and Tim Davis, Dick Schomer and Ted Beaudou of Menominee.

Lopez, fighting at 112 in the open division, will face Jerry Hawkins of North Chicago who was unopposed in his class in the Kenosha tournament.

Ciriza, open featherweight will tackle Richard Burns of Racine for the Wisconsin crown.

White, the U. P. and Green Bay novice light heavyweight king, faces a stiff puncher in Jimmy Marks of Kenosha who won his tournament crown with a TKO in 20 seconds of the second round over Al Levy of Kenosha.

Davis, 112 novice boxer, will be matched against David Hughes of Kenosha.

Schomer, 118 open veteran, will be seeking to advance to the national tournament for the third straight year. The Menominee scrapper, who has won 18 of his 22 bouts, will box Billy Rothmaller of Waukegan, Ill.

Beaudou, 160 pound open campaigner who has never lost a fight, meets hard hitting

Bill Stewart, Umpire, Dies

BOSTON (AP)—Bill Stewart was best known as a no-nonsense baseball umpire, but he also was the only native American ever to coach a National Hockey League team.

He won the Stanley Cup his first year, but was fired the following year. That was the way his sports career went in about 50 years—up and down. But it was more up than down.

He also had been a minor league baseball manager, a college coach, a wrestler, a track star, a boxing referee and a major league baseball scout.

His greatest accomplishment probably was coaching the Chicago Black Hawks to the Stanley Cup in 1938. Chicago finished third in the league standings, but defeated the old New York Americans and the Montreal Canadiens in the playoffs before disposing of heavily favored Toronto for the cup.

Beatles Make Little Splash At Fight Camp

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. AP — Miami Beach, somehow, got the Beatles. It also got Cassius Clay and Sonny Liston. Taken separately, even at odd times, this should be enough to satisfy any town.

But these various attractions got mixed up together and it's too much.

One could be excused for hoping that the fight between heavyweight champion Liston and Clay now will drift quietly toward the deadline Feb. 25 in Convention Hall. One could not count on it.

The four British rock 'n' rollers dropped in on Clay's training quarters Tuesday at the smelly old Fifth Street Gym.

Naturally, the Beatles were more interested in getting headlines for themselves than in building up Clay's fight. But "The Greatest" was so honored by the visit that he composed this poem on the spot:

"When Sonny Liston picks up the paper and sees
"That the Beatles came to see me,
"He will become so agree
"That I will knock him out in three."

At the Surfside Community Center where Liston trains the champion also was pleased. He expressed the hope that the publicity attracted by Clay and the Beatles would be reflected at the box office.

"Clay," he said, "is my million dollar baby."

The Beatles got their pictures taken by a mob of U. S. and British news photographers, but they obviously were not as happy about the whole thing as Cassius and Sonny were.

No teen-agers were present. There was no outburst of enthusiasm. The fight mob took little notice of the shaggy-haired visitors except one who remarked "Who's dem characters?"

MANISTIQUE Water Tank Bid Opening Friday

A special meeting of the City Council is tentatively scheduled Friday evening to act on bids received at 2 p. m., Friday for construction of an elevated water storage tank on the eastside, mains to serve it, and necessary pumping station changes.

A grant of $85,000 has been received from the federal government for the project. Following conferences between the city manager, Samuel C. Gesko Jr., and engineering consultants the pumping station pump requirements have been set as follows: auxiliary gasoline engine capacity cut from 1,000 to 800 gallons per minute; middle pump, 1,200 gpm with 75 horsepower motor; No. 2 pump, 1,600 gpm with 100 horsepower motor.

At present the city has the auxiliary pump running at 1,000 gpm, which is reported too much for the engine. A 30 hp motor is operating a 750 gpm unit and a 50 hp motor is running a 900 gpm pump. The heads of water are being raised an additional 45 feet from 140 to 185 feet.

Pipe requirements will be 2,640 feet of 12-inch main, 173 feet of 8-inch, 47 feet of 6-inch, 12 feet of 4-inch. The bid proposal gives opportunity for bidding on tanks of 300,000, 400,000 and 500,000 gallon capacity. The city will take the largest it can obtain with the money available.

A refinancing of present sewer and water bonds is to be made, combining the two utilities, and additional funds will be included in the bond sale to cover the local share of the cost of the elevated tank, which will be erected to increase pressure in water lines.

Marvin Van Eyck of the engineering firm of McNamara, Porter and Seeley will be here for the bid tabulation Friday afternoon. A representative of the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency will also be present. Telephone contacts will be made with bond consultants.

MHS Sending Five To U. P. Debate Tourney

Manistique High School debaters will go to Marquette to compete in U. P. debate finals Friday and Saturday at Northern Michigan University.

Going will be Fred Lesica and Christine Mathson, affirmative and Eleanor Jorgenson and Kathy McGregor, negative. Pierre LaFolle, reserve debater also will make the trip with the group.

Carl Olson, reserve coach and Marvin Frederickson, varsity coach will accompany the students.

Woman's Plea Is Accepted

A plea of guilty was accepted from Leta Roberts, 43, of Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., in Schoolcraft County Circuit Court and a 100-day jail sentence was imposed by Circuit Judge George S. Baldwin.

The time is to be served commencing Nov. 28, 1963, when she was lodged in the county jail on a charge of enticing a state ward from a mental care home in Germfask, until fine of $75 is paid.

A pre-trial was held in the case of George Mero vs. William and Darlene Turpin.

'Musty' Water Taste Checked

Due to complaints of "musty" water in the past two weeks, city crews have pumped out reservoirs at the new and old pumping stations. The Michigan Department of Health will be contacted further on it, Samuel C. Gesko Jr., city manager reports.

It is not known what causes the taste change. There is no turbidity, as ice is still on the lake, he noted.

The old water tower building has been given a general cleaning, following completion of re-finishing and lacquering of city picnic tables there. The tables are stored in the building.

Name Performers For U. P. Solo, Ensemble Festival

Four soloists, a girls' quartet and a boys' quartet from Manistique are scheduled to participate in the U. P. solo and ensemble festival at Marquette Feb. 29.

Sue Carlson will sing "Elegie" by Massenet, Sue Orhanen will play a trumpet solo, "Gypsy Legend," by Voxman, Sue Earle will play the piano solo, "Valse Caprice," and Christine Mathson will play as a piano solo, J. S. Bach's "Partita in G Major," French style.

In the girls quartet will be Annette Binder, Sue Carlson, Vicki Creeden and Margot LeBrasseur. They will sing "Clouds" by Bircsak and "O Domine Christe," by Palestrina. The boys' quartet, Darryl Carlson, Peter Denman, Marvin Schmucker and Lawrence Weaver, will sing "Night and Dreams," by Schubert and "Come Let's Be Merry," an old English folk tune.

The festival program will include an honors concert in the evening in the new fine arts building as well as performances for adjudication. The group will lunch at the university with cost borne by the MHS music department.

Accompanists for the Manistique performers will be Christine Mathson and Eleanor Jorgenson, J. L. Giovannini and Frank Wareham are directors of the music department here.

4-H Achievement Show Set Apr. 9-11

The 375 members participating in Schoolcraft 4-H club activities will hold their annual achievement show April 9, 10 and 11 in Manistique High School.

As in years previous, local judging will be held to determine which exhibits will go to the county show. The theme is "4-H on Parade."

The annual Share the Fun contest, which will include speech and talent demonstrations is scheduled March 17.

Ann Landers

Don't Talk Back To Camera Men

Dear Ann Landers: You are in the newspaper business so maybe you know the answer to this one.

I am an active member of eleven organizations. Anyone who knows me will tell you I work diligently for a long list of worthy causes. I currently hold two presidencies, three chairmanships, and I'm serving on seven boards.

As you know, all organizations appreciate newspaper publicity—especially pictures. The photographer who usually takes pictures of the club women in our city was sent over yesterday to photograph our officers. When he saw me he said, "What, you again?" I replied, "Why don't you just shut your mouth and do your job, young man?"

Well, Ann, you should have seen what I looked like in that newspaper picture. He caught my profile—mouth wide open and my teeth looking like fangs. I believe he tampered with the negative because I do not look like that at all. —DONE IN

Dear Done: It wasn't the negative, sister; it was the subject. My only suggestion is this: Never bite the hand that photographs you.

Dear Ann Landers: What can I do with a hot-headed, jealous fiancé?

I have never given Craig any reason to doubt my faithfulness. Yet he does not trust me and I am a nervous wreck over his accusations and violent outbursts of temper.

If I am five minutes late getting out of the office (he picks me up and drives me home every evening) he wants to know who detained me. Last week Craig twisted my arm and insisted I tell him "everything" when a young fellow helped me carry some boxes to the car. The kid was the errand boy. I was not only hurt but insulted.

I love Craig but I'm afraid of him. He says after we're married he will be sure of me and there will be no reason for jealousy. Do you believe it? —MOLLY

Dear Molly: No, I don't believe it. And if you do you're an idiot. A man who twists your arm during courtship could wring your neck after marriage.

Don't expect marriage to produce a magic cure for what ails this character. It won't happen.

Dear Ann Landers: I am determined to get this letter in the mail while I'm still steaming. My question: Why are people so thoughtless, inconsiderate, selfish pigs?

This morning I took my child to the dentist. While waiting in the reception room I picked up a brand new magazine and began to read a fascinating article. I turned to page 136 for the continuation and to my disgust I found the bottom half of that page ripped out.

Later I went to the dryer. I picked up another magazine. I tried to find the article promoted on the cover. After 10 minutes of frustration I discovered that the entire article had been torn out.

Don't people realize that magazines in such places are purchased for the pleasure of everybody? What sort of people tear out pages from magazines which do not belong to them? Please tell me. FROTHING

Dear Frothing: You told me... "thoughtless, inconsiderate, selfish pigs."

Ann Landers' frank and informative new book, "Teen-Agers and Sex" ($2.95), is now available at your book store. Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Tech Appointee

HOUGHTON — J. Roy Moses Jr., managing editor of the Michigan Tech News Service, has been named assistant director of Tech's University Relations Department. Moses joined the Tech staff in 1962 after five years at the University of Texas and a year at Southwest Texas State College.

Tech To Study Blast Reactions

HOUGHTON — Michigan Tech's Department of Civil Engineering has received a $15,000 research grant for preliminary investigation of the mechanics of rock-fill dams produced by nuclear weapons, according to Dr. George A. Young, head of the Department.

The pilot project will not involve any actual explosions—nuclear or otherwise, Dr. Young emphasized. "We are interested," he said, "in the movement pattern of the earth, rocks and other material after it has been heated into the air by an explosion."

The six-month study has been undertaken by the Sandia Corp., which is operated for the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) by the Bell Laboratories. Funds for the research work will come from the AEC's Project Plowshare.

Pittsburgh Has Lot Riding On Young Rookie

By HAL BOCK

Associated Press Sports Writer

You couldn't really blame Pittsburgh General Manager Joe L. Brown if he said a little prayer while locking in-fighter Bob Bailey's 1964 contract in the Pirate vault today.

There is the little matter of an investment of between $150,000 and $200,000 as well as the GM's reputation resting on young Bailey's shoulders. And after his rookie year with the Pirates you'd have to say that Brown is somewhat apprehensive.

The Pirate executive shelled out the huge bonus in 1961. After his prodigy burned up the International League in 1962, he virtually handed him the regular third baseman's job by swapping Don Hoak to Philadelphia last year.

The best thing you could say about Bailey's rookie year was that he missed only eight games. His batting average was an anemic .228 and his 12 home runs and 45 runs batted in were hardly what Brown had in mind when he doled out all that dough.

An off season? Perhaps, but why shouldn't Brown and the Pirates be fretting. Etched indelibly on their ledger is the memory of baseball's first six figure bonus baby, Paul Pettit, the pitcher who won exactly one game for the Pirates in return for his $100,000.

And if the Pirates are praying for Bailey, the Chicago White Sox are rubbing a rabbit's foot for Joe Cunningham who also signed his contract Tuesday.

Cunningham is the first basemen-outfielder touted as the power hitter the Chisox needed to beef up their attack after he was traded to Chicago by the Cardinals in 1962. But you can't do much hitting from a hospital bed and that's just where Cunningham spent most of last season.

The rangy slugger was out of the line-up for three months recuperating from a broken collarbone. He did get into 67 games and batted .268 but was idle from June 3 till Sept. 2. Comebacks by Bailey and Cunningham could spell trouble for contenders in both leagues but the memory of 1963 makes both great big question marks for 1964.
